Fire at Nock Island.

[From the Register 2th.

This morning, about half past 2 o'clock a destructive fire broke out in the rear of Burgowers agrocery store, and Mr. Platt, as a picture trane gallery. The upper stories were occupied by Dr. Fischel and family. The fire spread with great rapidity, barely giving the family of Dr. F. times to escape with there lives. They lost every vestige of clothing, ance what they lost every vestige of clothing, and his wife some £300 morning as an insurance of $500. The stock of Mr. Flatt was insured for a small amount. His principal loss is his moulding, which were vestuable. Mr. Bargower's loss is about $5000, on which he has an insurance of $5500. The building he occupied by Platt belonged to Mr. Chamberrian. We could learn nothing as to the insurance. From these buildings the fames reached a two story frame owned by Mr. Dedge of New Yark. The building was of but little value, and was insured. It was occupied by Tabernight and Mcad, tailors and shoemakers. Their ioss is light, having saved nearly all their effects. A small building adjoining Fahnestock's drug store was pulled down, which arrested the progress of the flames.

CHICAGO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, 1859.

Convention of Spiritual

The Spiritualist convention which was held ymouth, Mass., terminated its three days' as Sunday evening. Although it had been an eed as a National Spiritualist Convention nonneed as a National Spiritualist Convention, it turns out that it was not entitled to assume that character, and that the announcement was erroceous. None of the distinguished luminaries of Spiritualism outside of Boston and suburbs were present; but a committee was appointed to take measures to call at no distant day such a National Spiritualist Convention. The proceedings of the first two days lacked in interest, but those of the closing sessions made up for all the rest.

The proceedings of the first two days lacked in interest, but those of tecking sessions made up for all the rest. Among other things, there was a Spiritualistic marriage solemnized. Dr. Gardner, who presided on Sunday, made a clossing speech, in which he declared that Louis Napoleon was a spiritualistic marriage solemnized. Dr. Gardner, who presided on Sunday, made a clossing speech, in which he declared that Louis Napoleon was under the influence of his uncle's spirit, and had been saved from the bullet of the assassis by information given him through a medium. He also gave a very carious relation of how the spirits of Washington and Lafayette went through a Masonic rehearsal in his presence, in Springfield. There was much ability and intelligence represented among the leaders cince, in Springfield. There was much ability and intelligence represented. On the whole, the proceedings, it not very exciting, were conducted with perfect order and decorum. The following crede was reported from a Committee, of which Henry C. Wright was a member, and was discussed by the Convention:

1. We recognize as Spiritualists all who process to believe in spiritual demonstrations. We call ourselves Spiritualists, and cousider ourselves distinct from those who do not recognize a certain quality of truth, and who may be properly called Spiritists.

schree distinct from those who do not recognize a certain quality of truth, and who may be properly called Sprittists.

2. What is Spiritualism? We define the term as the true upbuilding of man's highest spiritual welfare and destine.

3. We believe that Spiritualism should not be confounded with the harmonial philosophy of Andrew Jackson Davia, the deianns of Dr. Hare, nor the ipdividual, theories of any other writer, whether prominent among Spiritualists or not nor even with the teachings of disembodied spirits themselve.

4. The resistance.

nor even with the teachings of disembodied spirits themselves.

4. The relations of Spiritualism to specific reform. Since man's spiritual welfare is liable to be retarded by coming in contact with seesand things—we cannot, as carnest and consistent spiritualists, fail to take an interest in all such objects as the following: 1—Physiological reform, dietetics and tobaces, to the end that our bedies may be made the more fit and useful instruments for the spirits; 1—Educational reform, that the body, mind and spirit may be made individually healthy; 3—Penientiary reform; 4—The emancipation of woman in order that she may fulfil her mission by becoming the mother of capable offspring; 5—The abolition of slavery; 6—The establishment of universal peace; 7—Theological and ecclesiastical reform, because we believe in universal and human progress; 8—Social reform and the racognition of the principles of brotherhood; leastly, in every other thing general or specific which commends tself to our judgment as tending to elevate mankind.

The declaration was accepted.

during the examination, though still pale from his injuries. The case has already been referred to in our columns, at the time of its occurrence, but aspects were presented yesterday placing matters in a somewhat different light. It was the attempt of the prisoner's counsel, Mr. Cameron, to show that Edgell was assailed by a Cameron, to show that Edgell was assailed by a party of several men siding the irate husband, and that their language and action was so threat-cuing as to render justifiable his efforts at self-defence. This view is fully presented in the statement of the wife which we append. Her two sisters we subsequently examined, their evidence in no material respect, however, vary-ing from hers. Pair Grounds—Extensive Preparations.
We visited yesterday morning the extensive grounds enclosed and now being most completelyand admirably fitted up for the purposes of the forthcoming United States Fair to be held in this city early in September. The location is finely chosen, as is well known to our city readers, at Cottage Grove, just below city limits and at the terminus of the horse railroad.

Though the sky gave a promise of rain yes-terday, and from time to time a few drops fell, nevertheless we found the active and efficient Superintendent of the Fair, Col. Horace Capron on the grounds, supervising matters in progress under numerous workmen, and that with a zeal and intelligence that, in successes oft, in this very line, have years since attested this gentle-man's eminent fitness for that important post. And the ani Fire on Blue Island Avenue.—About one o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in a barn situated in the rear of a wooden two story block of four stores, occupied above as tenements, on Blue Island avenue, near Hope street. The barn, block of stores, and a blacksmith and wagon shop on Hope street fell a prey to the flames, some of them being entirely consumed.

A Corn Nusake.—We could wish that the business firms, some six or eight in number, who have chosen the more enterprising than sensible mode of advertising, by filling all collections of our smaller currency with spurious imitations of the new penny piece, might be visited by the fruits of their own devices. A donation of $1,000 has just been made to the college by Dr. Morris of the class of 1818, of Cambridge, N. Y. We need scarcely add that the college is esjoying a high degree of prosperity and usefulness. The reported cession of the island to the Uni-ted States, which we deem quite improbable, may bring up the question whether the Consti-tion recognizes such things as "dependencies" of the United States. The ostensible cause of the warlike and breating out inreatenings and sanguser generally. The ostensible cause of the warlike proceeding, as stated in the proclamation, is that a mob recently lynched a murderer in the town of Rockford, in Wright county, and sub-sequently released one of their own number, who had been arrested for the lawless act. The Sporenor seems to be unhappy in the wording of his proclamation, as he threatens to being "incritable ruin on the heads of the rioters and may be misery and desolation upon their "innocent families." The St. Paul Minasorian indicestands that the Governor, not being able to command in person the Wright county army county appear to regard the thing as funny in the extreme. Goy. Wise and His Friends

Gov. Wise and His Friends.

History is already familiar with an individual famous as Jack the Giant Killer; and we may henceforth remember another here as Engelie the Killer of Wise. It seems, according to a report in the N. Y. Heratil, a journal remarkable for the veracity of its statements, that the late fatal letter of the Governor of Virginis, whose disclosure before the Democratic State Committee at Albany, and whose publication all over the country have caused such a mingled burst of anuscement, diaguat and riege, was communicated by the correspondent of Gov. Wise to Mr. Eugeue Chasidy, editor of the goulai and good natured publication the Albany Atlas. Mr. Cassidy received it in confidence and undertook that it should be kept strictly private. The Petersburg Intelligencer says that Mr. Reger A. Pryor, the Democratic candidate for Congress in that District, and in one of his late speeches, that corruption in the Government had become so general and pervading in Washington, that it was not considered disparaging to a man's social relations that he was suspected to one or two influential Softs. But never was confidence more exuelly violated; for the innocent and kind-hearted Casafdy, relying too fondly upon his friends, did not prevent several copies of the letter from being taken; and so the rifschief was done, in spite of him. We tender him our sympathy in this affliction; and as for Gov. Wise, though advice is useless to a dead man, we suggest to him to write no letters less than thrity columns long hereafter. Short letters, like this one to the Softs, are always dangerous, but in a multitude of folios there is Henry Grattan the younger is dead. He was once member of Parliament for Meath, and was the only surviving son of the great Henry A Free Gospel. THE SUNDAY QUESTION. ETS OF AN ISRAELITE ON THE MOVEMENTS OF SOME OF THE CHRISTIAN CLERGY IN THE UNITE STATES TO ASPORE THE KERPING OF SUNDAL AS, A SABBATH.

The Sabbath, as the word itself indicates, (it being Hebrew) is an exclusively Israelite institution, founded upon the laws contained in the Pentateuch—a portion of the Bible. The observance of the Sabbath was commended to the children of Israel only, to be a token of the covenant between God and Israel. The day of the was which has unceasingly been kept by the Iraelites from the time of the commandment of the Sabbath is Saturday, the seventh day of the was which has unceasingly been kept by the Iraelites from the time of the commandment of the Sabbath at Mount Shaal to the present day.

All the various laws contained in the Pentateuch are given to the Israelites only, and need not be observed by any other nation or denomination whatever, except the seven obligations or commandment which Noal and his decendants h. d. to keep before the giving of the law at Sinal—that is, the so-called moral law—and these laws appealing given in the Pentateuch, and Israelite and keeps the said seven commandments to their full extent, truly and since rely has an equal share in the kingdom of heaven with the best and most ardent and orthe-dox Israelite, who keeps all the six bundred and thirten commandments contained in the Pentateuch. A non-Israelite may believe and observe anything that does not confliet with the said seven commandments, but is ander no obligation to believe or observe anything class.

All passages of the Pentateuch commanding he Sabbath are in very plain and unmistakable inguage, directed to the children of Israel and no one else, as plainly appears from the ful-wing passages: o no one c.s., as plainly appears from the Jul-wing passages:

(a) Exodus XX, 1-18, contains the well known, en Commandments, including the law of the abbath, and rands as follows:

And food stake all these words, saying: "I am the Jord, by God, which has beingthe so words the same of Erys, orn' in home of bondage; thou shall have no other God before e., "Re.

It is probably known to most of our readers, that a few years since some of the members of the New York Yearly meeting; feeling dissatisfied with the continuance of religious fellowship between that meeting and the Yearly Meeting of New England, and desiring to connect themselves with the seconding body at Newport, withdrew from the sessorations to which they belonged, principally while the charterly Meetings of Scapio, Ferrisburg and Farmington, and opened a small meeting with the little of "New York Ybarly Meeting of Friends, held at Poplar Ridge, Cayaga County, New York," They have been in unity and correspondence with the separate Yearly Meetings at Newport (Rhode Island) and Nottingham (Maryland,) and also with a small number of persons in lows, who have seceded from the Society thera, but, we believe, have not attempted to organize a Yearly Meeting.

The Poplar Ridge Meeting has also repeatedly. DRY GOODS. BOOTS AND SHOES, lieve, have not attempted to organize a Yearly Meeting.

The Hoplar Ridge Meeting has also repeatedly addressed episites to Philadelphia Yearly Meeting, and to the "Hoyle Meeting" in Ohio, but they have not been received, although portions of the tembers of these meetings have carnestly desired to enter into a correspondence, and strenuously advocated it, particularly in Ohio, where there has been great danger of a devision on this question.

Far several months past there have been rupors of dissension among the members of the separate monthly meeting at Scipio, and it now appears that, divisions have occurred in the menthly and quarterly meetings at that place, and that the yearly meeting at Poplar Ridge separated in the fifth month last, in two bodies, each claiming to be New York Yearly Meeting. One of these bodies issued an address to its own members and friends wherever situated; and the meeting for sufferings, representing the other body, has published an answers such party professing to give an account of the origin and pragress to the difficulties which resulted in separation.

Washington, Aug. 10—It is ascertained from an authentic source that on the 17th of June the U. S. Deputy Marshal for Northern Elorida, informed ting flowering of the prevalence of reports that a vessel or vessels were expected on the coast of Florida, with slaves from Africa, and made some suggestious as to the best mode of intercepting and arresting them. The Marshal himself being absent in another period the State, the Sucretary of the Interior on the reception of this communication immediately telegraphed to the Deputy Marshal informing him that a revenue cutter had been ordered from Charleston to cruise along the coast of Florida under his direction. The Deputy accordingly went on board the cutter on the 30th of June, and reached New Smyrna Inlet on the 3d of July. of Jube, and reached New Smyrna Inlet on the 3d of July.

Two weeks thereafter he wrote that he had boarded various schooners to which suspicion might attach, had carefully inquired for many miles along the coast, and concluded by saying that there was no information to verify the reports of the landing of Africans.

It further appears that Marshal Blackburn himself was far behind the times, as he did not inform the Interior Department of these ru mors until his Deputy had investigated their truth with the above mentioned result. The above facts are gleaned from the official papers.

Mr. Glasstone eulogized the conduct of Sardinia, defended Lord Palmerston from the misrepresensations brought against him, and besought the House not to interfere between the Executive in whatever measures it might find its-iff white to adost for the interest of Italy and the permanut welfare of Europe.

After specifies by other members, the subject was then dropped. On the 29th the proceedings in the House of Lords were uninteresting. yet was then dropped. On the 29th the proceedings in the House of Lords were uninteresting.

In the House of Commons sundry questions were put to the Government on the subject of naval armaments and national defences. Lord Palmerston said that he did not think it possible for England to enter into any arrangement with the other powers for the arithmetical reduction of her military and naval establishments, her position being totally different. Mr. Horaman moved a resolution that the expenses of completing the works of defence be met by a fund specially provided for the purpose, independent of Parkiamentary votes. He urged continued armaments, and suggested a loan to complete the defences.

Sidacy Herbert and Lord Palmerston objected to the proposition, but both said the government was fully alive to the importance of completing the defence of the country, and promised rigorous action in the matter. Mr. Cobden deprecated this unnatural alarm as an actual measure to a supplementation of the country, and promised rigorous action in the matter. Mr. Cobden deprecated this unnatural alarm as an actual measure to the supplementative to war, and ridiculed the idea of invasion by France. He hoped that explanations would be entered into between the two governments. After such explanations had been made and tried he would, if necessary, he ready to your sould, if necessary, he ready to your sould be a provide a navy superior to France, authough he showed that the English many was greatly superior now. There appears to be a considerable demand for wheat for shipment, but this market is quiet for want of stocks. Buyers this morning would readily pay $1,10@1.12 for a prime article of shite, free on board. Thus there being no buyers for flour, and no sellers for wheat, the market presents a very dull phase,

Exports of Gold to Enrope.

(From the U. S. Economist, as).

The movement of specie continues to be considerable. With each successive week we are told by "the authorities" that the shipment "is over, "although the rate of bills keeps up firmly at high-water mark—10i@104@11 for bankers' bills, indicating a profit on the movement, and goods come pouring in to sustain the demand for remittance, yet we are gravely assured that the "shipment it. over." With each successive week the $2,000,000 goes abroad, swallowing up all the receipts, and leaving the reserve somewhat diminished. If we were to compare the receipts and abipments at this port since January, with the same items for the corresponding season last year, the results would be as follows: Dr TERDOAFE.]

Mr. Benedict bought a small lot at 284c.
So far as we can learn the sales passed off to the satisfaction of all parties. Most of the sales were made direct to Eastern manufacturers, or their accredited agents. Buyers had to pay higher prices than the limits they had set theuselves when they came out, and the effect of the sale has been to sustain the rates paid at the opening of the season.
